

ANALYSIS OF EMPLOYEE PERCEPTION ABOUT THE WHISTLEBLOWING SYSTEM TOWARD INTENTION TO CONDUCT WHISTLEBLOWING

Title	ANALYSIS OF EMPLOYEE PERCEPTION ABOUT THE WHISTLEBLOWING SYSTEM TOWARD INTENTION TO CONDUCT WHISTLEBLOWING
Author Order	2 of 3
Accreditation	3
Abstract	This research is entitled "Analysis of Employee Perception about the Whistleblowing System toward Intention to Conduct Whistleblowing (The Study on Employees of Purbalingga and Purwokerto Tax Office)". The objective of this research is to examine individual factors that can influence intention to conduct whistleblowing by applying the Theory of Planned Behavior, namely behavioral attitudes, subjective norms and perceived behavioral control on the employees of the Purbalingga Tax Office and employees of Purwokerto Tax Office. This research was conducted at the Purbalingga Tax Office and Purwokerto Tax Office. Using variables that explain in Theory of Planned Behavior, the result of this study can be concluded that: (1) there is a positive effect of behavioral attitude toward the intention of employees to conduct whistleblowing, (2) there is a positive effect of subjective norm toward the intention of employees to conduct whistleblowing information, and (3) there is a positive effect of perceived behavioral control toward the intention of employees to conduct whistleblowing.
Publisher Name	Fakultas Ekonomi, Universitas Bangka Belitung
Publish Date	2020-10-20
Publish Year	2020
Doi	DOI: 10.33019/ijbe.v4i3.304
Citation
Source	Integrated Journal of Business and Economics (IJBE)
Source Issue	Vol 4, No 3 (2020): Integrated Journal of Business and Economics
Source Page	236 - 250
Url	http://ojs.ijbe-research.com/index.php/IJBE/article/downloadSuppFile/304/85
Author	Dr ICUK RANGGA BAWONO, S.E., M.Si